Michaelman Leads NFCCS Relief Drive

Mt. Mansfield Hike Planned For Columbus Day Holiday

An old St. Michael's College custom, the Columbus Day hike to the top of Mount Mansfield, will be reinstituted this year under the auspices of the Outing Club.

In tip top shape as the result of the Record dance last Saturday night, the Outing club members will leave campus Tuesday morning at 9. After the long trek by bus to the Half Way house in Underhill, club members and their guests will hike to the top of one of Vermont's scenic wonders.

Prof. Cornelius Hannigan, moderator of the club, reports sufficient interest on campus that several faculty members have signified their intention of going. Rev. Vincent Maloney was the first faculty member to sign up.

Coffee and sandwiches will be provided by John Buchan's patisserie.

Jack Burke and Bill Acton are working on plans for the hike, and reservations may be made at noontimes in the dining hall. Monday noon is the deadline.

RECORD DANCE

Last Saturday's first Record dance of the season was quite a success, financially and socially, club officers report, and an encore is slated tonight. Several new attractions, including entertainment, will be offered.

Generosity of Ed Kosicki Pays Off In Domestic Parlay

A trumpet-tooting Michaelman, who gave up his chance for a campus apartment last year to help solve the housing problem of a classmate with twins, has his double reward.

Edward Kosicki, Middletown, Conn., native and St. Michael's College junior, was presented Monday morning with a son by his wife, Lillian. He also has a new apartment on campus.

The St. Michael's junior was next in line for a home on campus last year when the wife of classmate, Ed DePeter, of Brooklyn, gave birth to twins. Although Kosicki had then recently married and hoped to land a home near his classes, he decided with his wife that they could commute, he to classes and she to her work as secretary to the college president, the Very Rev. Daniel P. Lyons.

The DePeters got the apartment and the Kosickis went back on the waiting list. When Mrs. Kosicki got through last month at St. Michael's where she had worked chiefly on the Science Hall campaign, her "going away" present from the president was a furnished, heated campus apartment.

Only the present of their first child, to be named Gerald Edward, could top that delight, Kosicki said.

Kosicki, who is majoring in History, served with the First Army and is working his way through St. Michael's, playing with dance bands in and about Burlington.

Glee Club Wants Musical Literates

Prof. William A. Burke began auditioning voices this week for the glee club which is scheduled to begin practice sessions this coming week, date undetermined.

The glee club which made several off and on-campus appearances last season has several engagements already lined up. Prof. Burke says that the need is primarily for those who can read music, although he'll settle for those with good voices.

U.S. Education Aid Topic For Debate

Newman Club Will Hear Dean at Next Meeting

A tentative schedule was laid out for the year. The topic for intercollegiate debate this year is: Resolved - "That the Federal Government should adopt a policy of Equalizing Education in Tax Supported Schools by means of Annual Grants." Rev. Father Gerald E. Dupont S.S.E., academic dean, will address the society at its next meeting, October 11, on this subject.

One credit per semester is offered to all Debaters who participate in meetings and attend one Speech class per week, date and time to be announced later.

The officers of the Society this year are:

Frank Merrigan Head For All N. E.

One of St. Michael's best known students, Frank Merrigan, has been chosen to head the student relief drive for the National Federation of Catholic College Students in all the New England Catholic Colleges.

Merrigan, one of the prime movers in NFCCS on campus and throughout the New England region, attended a meeting at Holy Cross this past week at which time he was handed his difficult assignment.

However, his task will be made easier so far as St. Michael's is concerned because his brother, John, will top the campus drive. The North Adams, Mass., pair have already started working on plans.

GOOD RECORD

Last year when St. Michael's participated in the drive to help deserving students abroad, the college had one of the best per capita records in the region.

Concerts provided some of the revenue last year with personal pledges helping the cause.

The first president of the New England region was Thomas McNamara who was graduated in June. Its present treasurer is Clem Ferris of football fame.

MEET YOUR PROF.

"...Like Saint Michael's? Why of course, I took to it instinctively," said Mr. William N. Campbell, newly appointed member of the Economics Department.

Mr. Campbell, a native of Vancouver, British Columbia, matriculated at Saint Francis Xavier University, Nova Scotia where he received his Bachelor's degree in 1940. Like so many of the students in attendance here, Mr. Campbell had his career halted by three years' service in the British Royal Air Force.

As communications officer in a ferry squadron, his tour of duty brought him to such places as India, Africa, Sardinia and many other remote places in the United Kingdom.

By 1945 he again donned civilian clothes and shortly afterwards began his graduate studies at Columbia University where he was granted a Master's degree in Economics.

Mr. Campbell deplored the tremendously over-crowded conditions and mass production educational tactics so predominant in the larger universities and colleges in the United States. He went on to explain the English would condone such methods, but approve the growth and establishment of smaller colleges because in this way the importance of education would not be lost.

PRAISES SSE

In commenting on Saint Michael's, he expressed enthusiasm in the pronounced educational progress made by the Fathers of the Society of Saint Edmund. He was also impressed by the friendly atmosphere found on our campus.

The amiable Mr. Campbell chuckled when questioned about the Vermont game last Saturday. Although a new-comer, he could feel the pre-game tension on the campus and also the seriousness of the rivalry. He was favorably impressed by the team but more so by the outcome of the game. Mr. Campbell lauded the athletes who must also pound the books as well as the line.

AD MULTOS ANNOS

High ranking officials of the Burlington diocese and the Society of St. Edmund gathered on campus this past week to honor the Rev. Ralph F. Linnehan, on the 25th anniversary of his joining the order. Left to right are Father Linnehan; Father Lyons, president; Very Rev. Jeremiah T. Purtill, superior general of the society; and Most Rev. Edward F. Ryan, bishop of Burlington. Father Linnehan is professor of philosophy.

Evening Showers and Shaves Will Be Stylish This Fall

The water supply pressure is going to remain low until the town of Winooski gets its new pump, Building Superintendent, John Buchan said this week.

Knights, Knaves Ready For Year

Dramatic Club Planning Margaret Webster Plays

Seventy members were present at the last meeting of the Knights and Knaves held Sept. 27th. With this large enrollment, President Vin Lawless can rest assured that the heavy schedule before the organization will have smooth sailing from now on.

The calendar of future events opens on October 22 and 23, when the K & K bring to Burlington Margaret Webster's renowned "Shakespearean Company" presenting, "Hamlet" and "Macbeth."

The K & K are not strictly business minded, for comes November and with it the annual dinner dance presentation of keys.

The usual three act play will again go on a road tour after its local presentation. The class play competition this year, with the assistance of the Knights and Knaves, will be bigger and better than ever, for the plays are many to be chosen from, and are now in stock. Not only will the K & K display their talent on the stage but they will also show what they can do in front of a mike. Something for everyone is the motto.

With last year's active members as officers this year, the K & K is due to have a successful year.

LAWLESS PRESIDENT

Presiding officer for the K & K is the senior, Vin Lawless, who for the past two years was publicity director. He was a very active member and was connected with the Playhouse of '48.

ASSISTING LAWLESS

Assisting Lawless with the mallet is Bill Heenehan, class of '50. Bill's unruly mop is due to his constant activity in the club. A busy man with the pen

The new pump should be working by the end of the month. Until that time, he urges students to try to use as little water as possible from 7 to 8 in the morning when the demand is usually the heaviest.

When the Winooski pressure fell below its usual level last week, Father Lyons got permission to get water from Fort Ethan Allen. While the volume is now satisfactory, the pressure is still not up to par and won't be until the pump is set.

FR. TINING NAMED MODERATOR OF JRS.

As Jerry Crowley presided, the Junior class held its first meeting in Austin Hall Sept. 30 and the election date for class officers has been set for Nov. 8.

Fr. Edward Tining, the new class moderator was introduced to the upperclassmen, and urged that the class "stick together." The new moderator suggested that at least once a month the class have an official meeting or smoker.

Fr. Dupont closed the meeting by giving a short talk on the new Human Relations class under the guidance of Mr. Leo Casey. Only Juniors and Seniors are permitted to enroll in this course and members of these classes were requested to enter.

President Busy East and West

St. Michael's president, the Very Rev. Daniel P. Lyons, has had a busy week. He left Friday to attend the 50th anniversary celebration of Northeastern University at Boston. While in that area, he was also visiting some WAA surplus sales, looking for bargains for the college.

This week, the president had to go to Chicago. A past president of the New England Catholic College Association, he is a delegate to the National Catholic Education Association. His Chicago meeting was to help plan the annual spring meeting in Philadelphia.

WHO'S GOING TO BE WHO

Elections are in the offing for the various college classes and it behooves every Michaelman to give a thought to "Who's Going to Be Who."

With the exception of the freshmen who will have only temporary officers until the election at midyear's, the members of the other three classes have a pretty good idea of the caliber of the men who are being mentioned for office. The question to be asked of an incumbent who is renominated is: "Did he deliver?" If he didn't and someone else seems more able, the choice is clear.

However, no group of officers can be better than the class members permit them to be. The experience of at least one class this week in trying to get nominees will show that.

If class officers are named, they deserve support. So let's pick some good officers, but let's also give them a fair chance.

LATCH ON!

St. Michael's College students are lucky to have as many extra-curricular activities as they have available. Sometimes, it almost seems as if we are overorganized. Yet a careful examination of the clubs which function on campus will show that they are set up so that there will be something to interest and educate everyone.

For it is no exaggeration to say that these clubs help in our education. It is one thing to pass a course in business administration. It is one very important step higher to help run a club in business-like, solvent fashion.

It is one thing to obtain a degree by passing all the courses; it is just a little more difficult to translate all that theoretical knowledge into practical experience, so that when the interviewer says: "What experience have you had?", the student can offer a specific, pertinent answer.

Even with the growth of the college, it is surprising how many of the same students join and help run so many different clubs. That is sometimes a tribute to their versatility; sometimes, it is testimony to their not having picked a goal. Sometimes, it's inevitable, because others default on the job.

It is not necessary to run down the list of clubs and activities to suggest all the opportunities that are offered. Yet, not enough students are profiting from this extra-curricular education.

So, pick yourself a club, and latch on!

A PAT FOR THREE BACKS

When Dr. Jeremiah K. Durick this week terminated his duties as moderator of the Writers' Club and The Lance, it marked, in one sense, the end of a most fruitful, rewarding period in the development of St. Michael's.

It would be untrue to say that Dr. Durick is no longer moderator of these two clubs, for his influence will linger long with those who have worked under him and the inspiration to be found in his classes will serve to feed both organizations with the stuff of which good writing is made.

Since his own student days in the '20's until the present, Dr. Durick has been father confessor to every Michaelman who ever yearned to put pen to paper, and the years will testify to his success. Lucky are those who have him in class.

The Lance is fortunate to have its literary tradition in the hands of Prof. Pfeifer, who as a Michaelman in student days, proved his interest in the quarterly. The Writers' club is fortunate, too, in having Prof. Lovering whose newspaper paychecks testify to his professional ability.

With many of the key men back from last year, both organizations should have a good year. The line forms to the right.

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY

It should hardly be necessary to remind Michaelmen of the untold comfort that is available to them daily in the college chapel. Starting with morning Mass, the St. Michael's College student can literally visit Our Lord almost around the clock.

The 10 minute wait between classes makes possible a brief visit, a chance to talk with a Friend whose love knows no bounds. With the college chapel, right in College Hall where every student has occasion to go sometime during the day, it seems strange that more Michaelmen don't find time for that quick visit.

HILL-WIND

By JOHN MEDREK & "CHUB" HELFRICH

To every college student, even to the freshmen of only a few weeks, the well-known "bull session" becomes a cherished part of his life.

BOB DIGAN Springfield, Mass.

If the readers of this column are interested in my complete opinion, they may send for my pamphlet entitled "The College Survey of Bull Sessions" at St. Pat's Hall. Enclose 10¢ for cost of mailing and handling.

AL BEVACQUA Hawthorne, New York
Yes, as it helps you relax and takes your mind off your studies.

DOUG O'NEIL Greenfield, Mass.

I believe it is a necessary part of college life in that it affords an opportunity to let off steam and to air our gripes.

PROF. FAIRBANKS

In the safe and tame pastures of the "bull session," many an amateur philosopher first learned to chew, and many a budding radical has learned to twist the ring in the face of all mankind.

BERNIE ROCHE Kingston, New York
In a non-coeducational school you are inclined to make your own social functions.

JACK SHARP Lowell, Mass.

FRANK HANAHAN Watervliet, N.Y.

They produce a brotherly effect among the students; HI, BROTHER.

BOB FLANAGAN Nantucket, Mass.

No! They merely expose the low I.Q. of the students and prevent them from doing the studying which would correct it.

CHARLES PFEIFER Winooski, Vt.

The question has two sides; the necessary side in which it acts as a form of relaxation and helps the mixed personalities concerned to better know and appreciate each other; on the other hand, they form "hang outs" in certain rooms which are a hindrance to those who wish to study.

JIM DWYER Kingston, New York

YES, in that they are a good medium for the exchange of ideas which helps to formulate a positive opinion; however, one must be careful not to be snowed under by silver-tongued orators.

BILL ALLEN Flushing, New York

JOHN J. MERRIGAN

North Adams, Mass.

BULL SESSIONS are a very important part of college life if the following rules are remembered and followed:

- 1) First draw the line.
- 2) If you are broadminded enough not to be narrowminded -- you are intelligent.
- 3) If you respect others' viewpoints and they in turn yours -- you have progressed.
- 4) If you are levelheaded, sincere and courteous -- you are educated.
- 5) All men are great in their field -- follow these rules, gentlemen, and the world is yours to conquer.
- 6) If it is your intention to conquer the world, please come to St. James, Room 107 and let me hear of your plans.

Purple Knights Bow, 7-6, to Bluejays at Plattsburg

By TONY CAULEY

The St. Michael's football team travelled across the lake to Plattsburg last Saturday, played poor ball in the first half, good ball in the second half, and as a result, wound up on the short end of a 7-6 score.

There is not much more that can be said about the game. Champlain had things pretty much their own way during the first thirty minutes of play, ripping holes in the Knights' forward wall big enough for their entire backfield to go through abreast. But in the second half, it was a different story. I do not know what Coach "Doc" said to the boys at half time, but it must have been some speech. From the very kickoff opening up the second half, it looked like a new team out there. The line played a harder and rougher type of ball, while the backfield looked more like the bunch that beat Vermont the week before.

BAD BREAK

The Knights also received their share of bad breaks. The pay-off came in the middle of the last period, when a Tyl to Conley lateral, that carried to the Champlain five, was called back for a man in motion penalty. With the inspiring type of ball being played by the Mikemen at the time, it was almost a certainty that pay-dirt would have been reached, one way or the other. Well, that is the way things go. Some days it seems as if nothing goes right.

However, Coach "Doc" was pleased with the team in general. Pointing towards the encounter with Lowell, Coach "Doc" has spent the past week ironing out kinks discovered over at Plattsburg.

GOOD SUPPORT

There was a good turnout of students and rooters to lend vocal support to the Knights. Red Lynch and Buck McMahon should come in for a little praise, for it was they who arranged the bus-trip that carried a lot of students, who otherwise would not have seen the game.

According to Red, the bus was back on the Campus at 6:30. I do not know how they pulled that off. They certainly did not take that snail-paced ferry that we took.

Of course, we hit a snag en-route. Coming out of Plattsburg, we got on a wrong road. We figured something was wrong when we passed a Howard Johnson's with the advertisements en francais. (We would probably have kept right on going if we had had any money on us.)

The ferry trip back was colorful, with George Dolan and Joe Purtill putting on a Captain Bly - Mr. Christian act. They ought to go on the stage with that and a few more they have.

By the time this is in print, the Braves should be two games up on the Indians for that world's title. That is, if Sain and Spahn do not co-currently fall down a flight of stairs and break their right and left arms respectively. Don't forget, we told you so.

TOUCH FOOTBALL FINALLY STARTS, GUTER DIRECTOR

As the intramural league swings into its first full week of action the league's director Steve Guter is still hoping for a successful season despite the delay in starting due to the slow response of the halls on Campus.

Up to Tuesday only nine teams had turned in rosters. Old Hall and Off Campus had applied for three teams apiece while the only other halls heard from were St. James, St. Pats and St. Edmunds.

The plans for the league call for the weekday games on Observatory field to start at 4 P.M. Sundays, the intramurals will take possession of the practice fields where the Varsity and Frosh squads have been churning up the turf all week. The captains of the teams are supposed to turn the scores of their games into the athletic director's office as soon as possible after

By WHIT BARTLETT

Last Saturday, at Plattsburg, N.Y., the St. Michael's gridders went down to their first defeat of the young football season, when the Champlain Bluejays pinned the Knights' ears back 7 to 6.

It was the educated toe of big George Waller, the Bluejays quarterback, that provided the slim margin of victory for Champlain. He split the uprights after a four yard jump pass from McIntyre to Santangelo was good for a Champlain touchdown early in the first quarter. The TD was set up by a strong ground attack.

The Jays started on the St. Mike's 40 yard stripe and picked up three quick first downs to move the pigskin down to the S.M. 4 yard line. The Knights, expecting a line buck, were taken by surprise and Champlain's big end, Santangelo, managed to get clear in the end zone to take McIntyre's short heave.

St. Michael's scored its touchdown early in the third period on a beautiful 40 yard pass from Jack Daly to John Hennessey, but Conley's placement was wide of the mark, to make the score 7 to 6.

The Knights, who gained only four yards rushing in the first half, perked up in the second half and twice drove down to scoring position only to have two bad penalty breaks stymie their bid for another touchdown. Dick Klaess, who suffered a slight concussion, Bob Knight and Jack Hennessey stood out in the line for the Knights, while Co-captain Jack Daly was the outstanding back.

Besides throwing the touchdown pass, Daly made several good runs and once was in the clear only to be brought down from behind after picking up 34 yards.

There are a couple of factors which should make for a close interesting race. For one thing, most of last year's combinations have been broken up and reshuffled. Such stars as Dan Doyle, Tony Pekarski and George Lavelli will be working with different team-mates. Besides this there are top flight players like Bob Canavan from last season's varsity who will confine their talents this year to intramural ball.

Frosh Football Scheduled

Starting with 109 candidates, the freshman football squad has slimmed down to 45 hopefuls. Under the direction of frosh coach, Barry Branon, himself one of the top-ranking athletes at St. Michael's, the Squires are busy every afternoon getting ready for their opener at Malone with the Clarkson Frosh, Oct. 10.

Devens Game Under Lights At Rutland

By BOB FLANAGAN

Vermont fans, particularly those in the Rutland area, will have an opportunity to enjoy the unusual spectacle of a football team playing a "home" game 60 miles from campus when St. Michael's plays host to Devens under the lights at St. Peter's stadium in Rutland at 8 P.M., Sat. the 16th.

Actually, this is an unusual situation only so far as Vermont football goes. Such gridiron powers as Army, Navy and Notre Dame have long been accustomed to making themselves at home in Baltimore, Cleveland, New York and other centers far from the stately elms and hallowed halls of dear old Alma Mater. Doc Jacobs' action in transferring the Devens tilt is merely placing St. Mike's in a class with the teams mentioned above.

According to Jacobs, the change was made in order to provide the Alumni and potential Alumni in other sections of the state with a glimpse at the "new look" in athletics on the hilltop.

At the same time, according to Jacobs, the students benefit by the publicity given the college in a section where many of them will someday be setting up business. St. Peter's ranked with the top parishes in the recent Science Hall drive.

Since this tilt is still listed as a home game, the student activities' pass will provide admission for any Mikemen who manage to get down to Rutland for that Saturday night.

Sunday's game finds Branon with plenty of talent, although the size of the squad in early workouts hampered early rehearsals somewhat. However, Branon who helped Coaches Jacobs and Piscione whip the varsity into shape at football camp before school opened has a knack for covering ground fast.

All the frosh games are away this year since the new college athletic field is not yet ready, and Jacobs hopes to have the games on home territory next fall.

The present schedule calls for the following games: Oct. 10, Clarkson; Oct. 16, Williams; Oct. 22, Middlebury; Oct. 29, Vermont and Nov. 5, Norwich. W. F. Daley is manager with Jack Terenzini and Joe Sardello as assistants.

INTRODUCING

By RAY HOWLAND

Co-captain Clem Ferris fought hard and earned his spot on the varsity this year. Ferris, a member of the Junior Class, held the same position, right guard, on the St. Michael's junior varsity in 1946 and again on the first varsity team in 14 years in 1947.

Ferris hails from Pittsfield, Mass., where he attended St. Joseph's High. While in high school Ferris won letters in football and baseball. Off of the gridiron and diamond Ferris was his Class President and was well liked by his classmates.

"Rabbit" Daly

"Out there on the field, Jack is as fast, and twice as slick as a river boat gambler."

Jack injured his shoulder in the Vermont game last year, but wouldn't give up. He was back in uniform again the next week although he didn't see service. The next game came and the "Rabbit" saw service once more.

Coming to St. Michael's from Sewanhaka High in Floral Park, N.Y., after three years in the army. Daly won four letters in high school. He took honors in football, basketball, track and wrestling. (yes all 140 pounds of him)

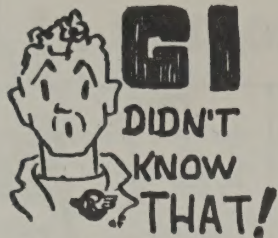

When Daly left the campus last June, he was determined to put on a few pounds and say goodbye to his 128 lbs. That he did. He returned to St. Michael's busting out all over with weight, tipping the scales at 140 lbs.

A deceptive, passing, kicking and hard running quarterback are a few of the terms which can be heaped upon varsity star ERNIE DESPIRITO. Ernie is the boy who brought the crowd to its feet in the UVM game when he chucked a forty yard aerial while running full speed, even though it just missed completion to Jack Daly over the goal. He also got an assist on his pretty handoff to Bill Hart for the second Purple touchdown, and minutes later he added the final point with his educated toe. He is also remembered for his hot corner work with the Frosh nine.

Ernie is a 19 year old Math major, hailing from Mt. Vernon, New York. He attended Roosevelt High School and excelled in football, baseball and basketball. In 1946 he was voted the Outstanding Athlete award and in 1945-46 season he made the All-City grid squad.

A hitherto unsung hero in the defense of the "Mikemen" this year is DICK KLAESS. Dick, with his familiar number '38' made the season's opening tackle against the Catamounts and for the next 60 minutes was an outstanding feature with his vicious 180 lb. tackles while backing up the line at his center position.

Dick is 19 years old and hails from Rockville Centre, New York, and attended Chaminade High in Mineola, Long Island. He received varsity letters for football and three medals for boxing, which, incidentally were three knockouts for the young Soph. Here at St. Michael's he is working for his B.A. in History with anticipation of entering law or becoming a teacher after graduation.

Increased compensation payments granted on account of dependents to veterans who have service-connected disabilities of 60 percent or more may be paid from the date the dependency is made a matter of record with the Veterans Administration, or from September 1, 1948, which ever is later, according to Charles L. Jacobs, manager of the White River Junction Veterans Administration Center.

Jacobs pointed out that those veterans who advised the VA as to their dependents prior to September 1 and supply the VA with proof of relationship and dependency prior to December 1 will receive increased payments effective September 1.

'Hamlet', 'Macbeth' Coming

Margaret Webster who brings her famed Shakespearean troupe to Burlington next month under St. Michael's College auspices this week began a tour that has her booked solidly from now until April. The company which will bring "Hamlet" and "Macbeth" to Burlington, Oct. 22 and 23 is opened Monday in Buffalo.

Three well known Shakespearean stars are being featured in Miss Webster's company, Carol Goodner, Joseph Holland and Alfred Ryder. A cast of 22 is making the trip.

The productions which will be offered in the Burlington Memorial Auditorium are being sponsored by the Knights and Knaves Dramatic Society of St. Michael's College. Prof. Henry Fairbanks, moderator of the club, said that St. Michael's was very fortunate to get so fine a company.

The increasing importance of St. Michael's as a drama center, however, gave the college a chance to sponsor the plays in the company's Vermont appearance.

Costumes and a flexible setting for both productions have been designed by Wolfgang Roth. The music has been arranged by Lehman Engel.

Tickets will be on sale at St. Michael's College, at the UVM bookstore, Bailey's, McAuliffe's and Hayes and Carney.
